Bonneville Power Administration (BPA) in Portland, OR

From Texas, to East Coast, to West Coast:

Wholesale Electricity Markets and Hydro Power Operations

Mariano completed a PhD at Texas A&M in AgEcon with a focus in environmental economics in August 2012. Since graduating, he has worked in the wholesale electricity industry. He worked in Washington, DC, for four years at the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC), and is currently at a Federal power marketing agency called the Bonneville Power Administration (BPA) in Portland, OR. During his talk, he will discuss various aspects of wholesale electricity markets, hydro power operations at BPA, and about his current work on the Western Energy Imbalance Market (EIM).
